END OF AN ERA

Over a decade ago, "the old Breck" referred to the St. Paul campus; shortly after the move to Minneapolis, it referred to the military school; and after this year it will refer to the all-male preparatory school. The graduation of the Class of 1971 marks the end of an era at Breck.

The Class of '71 was also the last class to participate in the military program, and although few of the seniors were then at Breck, this heritage goes with the ones who were.

Their graduation is, to some, a sentimental one, especially to those who hold Breck's past particularly dear. On the other hand, it marks a significant step in progressive modern education.

They, as well as all senior classes, will be missed greatly by the school, but with them they are taking an integral part of Breck history: it is this tradition that makes them special.

Their time at Breck has undoubtedly been one of Breck's most varied and changing periods to date. The school has changed from military to non-military, built a chapel and two annexes, brought girls into the Upper School, and continued to engage in a progressive and competitive program at all levels.

The school says goodbye to both them and the tradition which they bear, and wishes them the best in the years ahead, as Breck also continues to change and grow.

DEDICATION

Breck School is comprised not only of faculty and students but also of a third group of people whose physical labors and energetic commitment to the school make it function smoothly and effectively. It is to one of the most spry and delightful of these people, Mr. James Stevenson, that the 1971 Mustang is dedicated.

"Mr. Jim" — as he is called by all students — has been with Breck for exactly twenty years. The evidences of his hard work and creative talents extend throughout the building. He has built innumerable cabinets and book shelves as well as the athletic hurdles and the field score board. In the new wing he designed the study carrels. He is still constantly busy in his shop repairing and refurbishing all kinds of furniture and other school equipment. In his "spare time" he does all the plumbing maintenance!

Although Mr. Stevenson has tried to slow down a little in the last few years, he wants to remain at Breck as long as he can because as he says, "I love this little school and everyone in it."

We gratefully thank Mr. Jim for his genial spirit and his downright hard work which have always been aimed at improving the physical and educational environment of Breck. We hope that his energy, liveliness, and quick wit will continue for a long time to contribute to the wellbeing of Breck School.

RECTOR AND HEADMASTER

Throughout the eighteen years that Canon F. Douglas Henderson has been Headmaster of Breck, he has been dedicated to keeping pace with modern education, and attempting to provide each of the students with the best education the school can offer.

Under Canon's able leadership, the sixties saw Breck "committed to betterment," not only maintaining its academic level of excellence, but also increasing its facilities through the construction of two annexes and a chapel.

As the Breck community begins to grow and become co-ed, a greater stress is placed on individualized study; Canon has reinforced the importance of the individual's relating to his community with Breck's new motto: "Individuality Depends Upon Community."

Few underclassmen get to know Canon Henderson as well as the seniors, who, through his Sacred Studies class as well as personal talks, find understanding and guidance in college application and other problems facing the youth of today.

We hope that Canon's leadership and friendship may remain a significant part of Breck for many years to come.

ASSISTANT HEADMASTER

Mr. Robert J. Aarthun, a long-time friend of Breck School, is now in his second year as Assistant Headmaster, and serves in that capacity with the same excellence with which he did so many years as Athletic Director. Since he came to Breck in 1957, Mr. Aarthun has also coached three Varsity sports.

A graduate of Macalester College in St. Paul, Mr. Aarthun majored in social sciences and minored in physical education; in addition, he has taken post-graduate studies at the University of Minnesota and the University of Michigan.

In his new post of Assistant Headmaster, Mr. Aarthun has further taken a deep interest in each of the students and their academic education. Always an available and enthusiastic advisor, Mr. Aarthun has become one of the students' greatest friends. We hope Mr. Aarthun will continue to be an important part of Breck School for many years.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees, under the leadership of its Chairman, Bishop Kellogg, is responsible for the governing of Breck School. Without this sincere dedication to Breck's betterment, the progressive and competitive nature of Breck School could not be maintained.

The Board is divided into three committees; The Curriculum and Program Committee works with the faculty to establish Breck's curriculum; The Finance and Capital Funds Committee works with Breck's financial matters and can be credited with numerous successful fund drives which have made possible Breck's recent growth, a major interest of the Building and Property Committee.

Breck is proud of this fine and dedicated Board, which greatly influences Breck's future by ever striving to accomplish new goals.

MOTHERS' CLUB

The Mothers' Club is an organization greatly interested and widely involved in practically every facet of life at Breck. Under the excellent leadership of the Club's President, Mrs. Barbara Johnson, in her second term, the mothers have devoted themselves to helping out wherever possible. In conjunction with a local bookstore, they held their second annual New Book Sale, and in the spring held a Bargain Bazaar. The Salad Luncheon is the annual Club winter event and has enjoyed great popularity in recent years.

The money made by the Mothers' Club through these ventures is used to better the students' facilities and opportunities at Breck. Perhaps the most noticeable and appreciated gift in recent years is the furniture and rug with which the mothers furnished the Student Lounge; however, the Mothers' Club makes annual donations to other areas of the school, including the Dining Room, Scholarship Fund, and Library.

All of the students join in thanking this dedicated organization of Breck mothers for the most worthwhile job they accomplish each year.

RELIGIOUS STUDIES

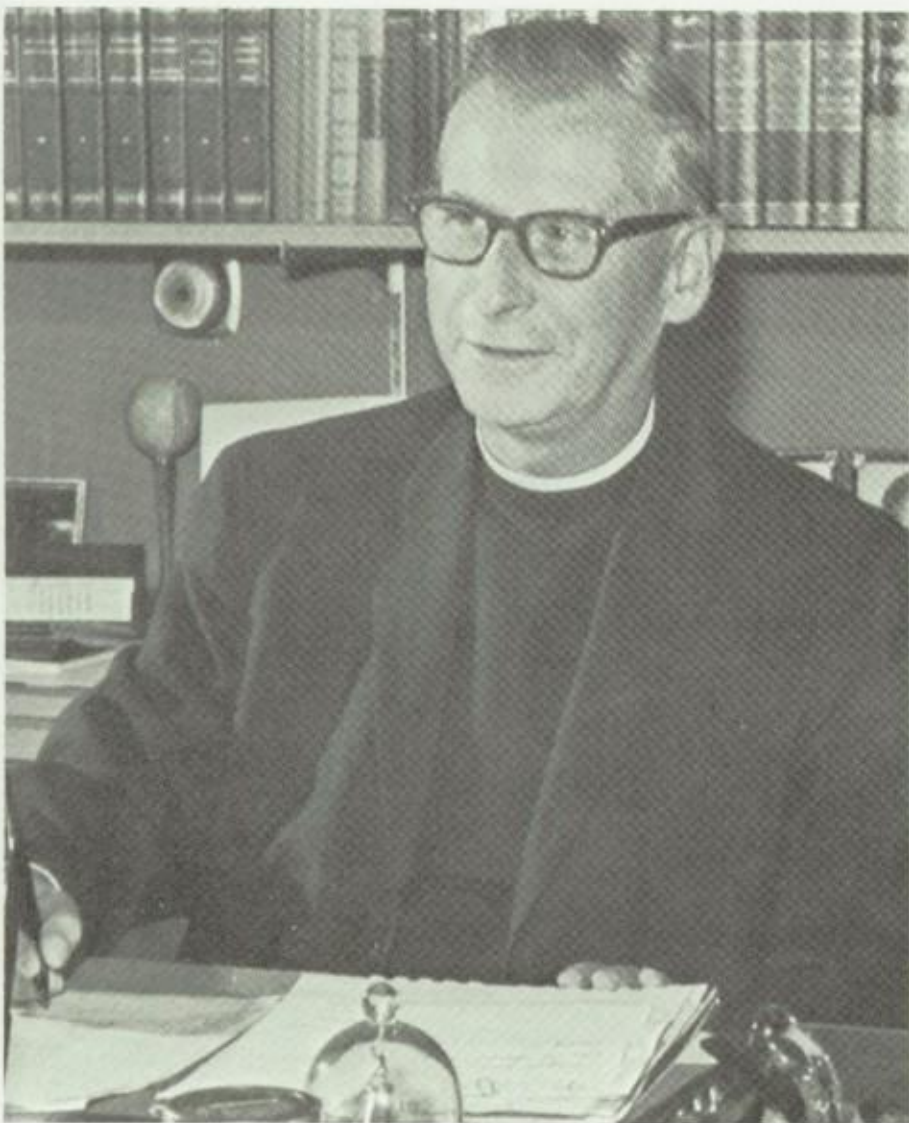

THE DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS STUDIES

Religious life and education at Breck School is cast in an intangible and ecumenical real life situation. Our students come from many different religious and ethnical backgrounds. Consequently, although the religious tradition of the School is Episcopalian, we do in truth live under the larger canopy of God's universal love, and seek to grow together in wisdom, and understanding of His will for our lives.

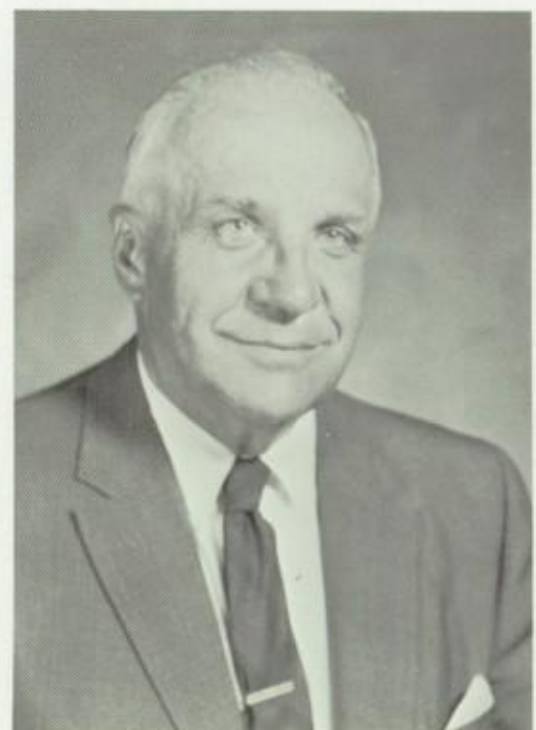

The ultimate goal of the religious program at Breck School might best be defined as a preparation which will enable our boys and girls to make responsible moral and ethical decisions, and to comprehend and understand the need for proper balance between personal freedom and individual responsibility. It also seeks to give each individual a greater assurance of being loved, cared for, and appreciated.

Religious Studies is a part of the regular school curriculum, and is taught at the Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth and Twelfth Grade levels. Classes ordinarily meet twice a week, and there are usually two or three sections at each grade level. Courses are essentially Bible based or oriented, but seek always to relate to the everyday living experience of the students.

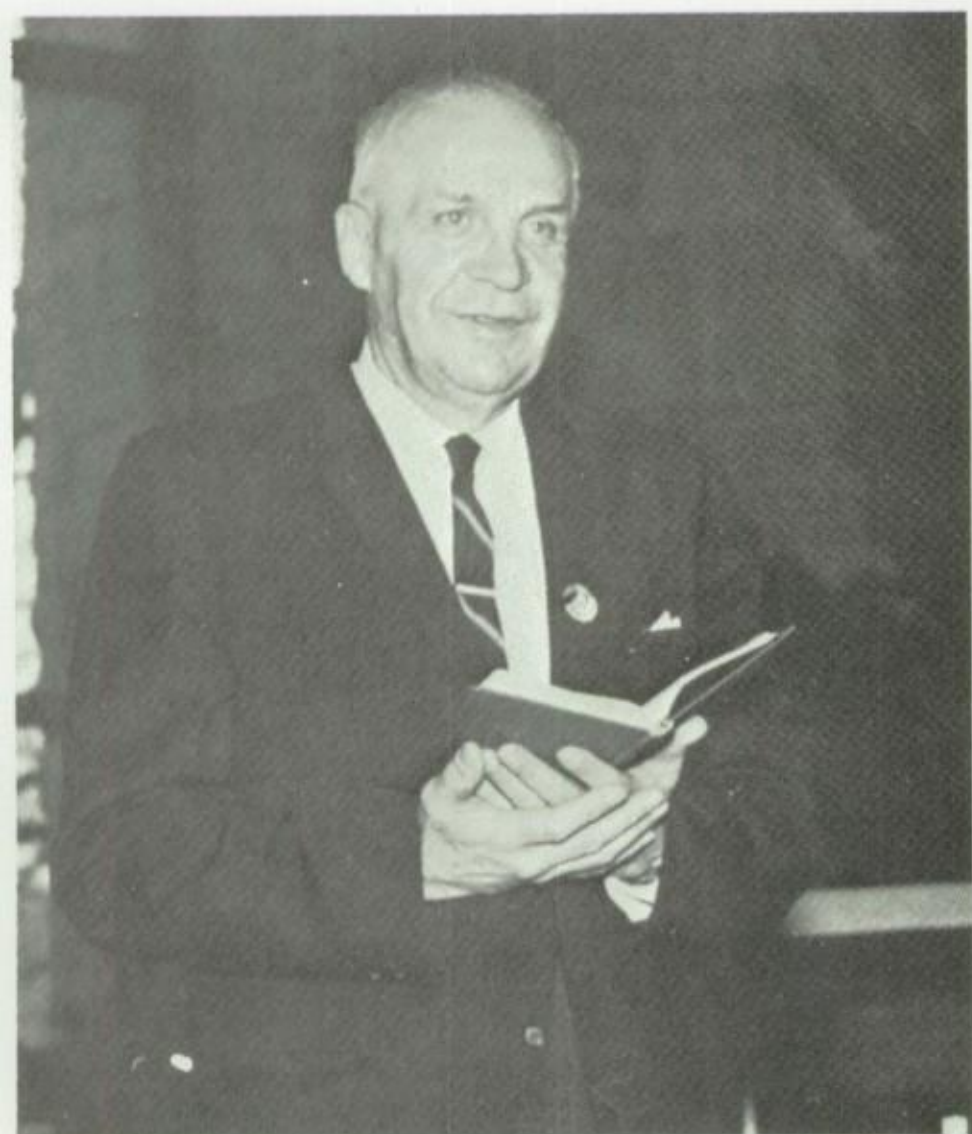

Morning chapel services for both Upper and Lower Schools are a tradition of school life at Breck. Students are encouraged to participate in the planning and presenting of morning chapels. Frequent guest speakers and musical presentations of the Upper and Lower Schools are a tradition of school life at Breck. Students are encouraged to participate in the planning and presenting of morning chapels. Frequent guest speakers and musical presentations add interest and enrichment to the chapel program. A Celebration of the Holy Communion, at which attendance is voluntary, is held each Wednesday morning.

ENGLISH

Mr. Howard Chilberg

Mr. Charles Krenz
(Dept. Head)

Mr. Bruce Shaw

The English Department is in its second year under the direction of Mr. Krenz who, in addition to begin Department Head, teaches the seventh and eighth graders. These classes work mainly to establish a firm base in grammar and vocabulary. They are also encouraged to read often and they frequently write themes to develop good writing skills.

The ninth and tenth grades under the tutelage of Mr. Shaw and the eleventh and twelfth grades taught by Mr. Chilberg have embarked this year on a freer curriculum. This was done to further strengthen the department and to keep within the bounds of student interest, ability, and need.

The student was allowed to choose between classroom work which was handled like a seminar and independent study which allowed the student to pursue a particular interest.

Nancy seems bored to tears.

MATH

Mr. Bruce Deger

Mr. Richard Yonker
(Department Head)

Mr. James Ross

Mr. Jack Blatherwick

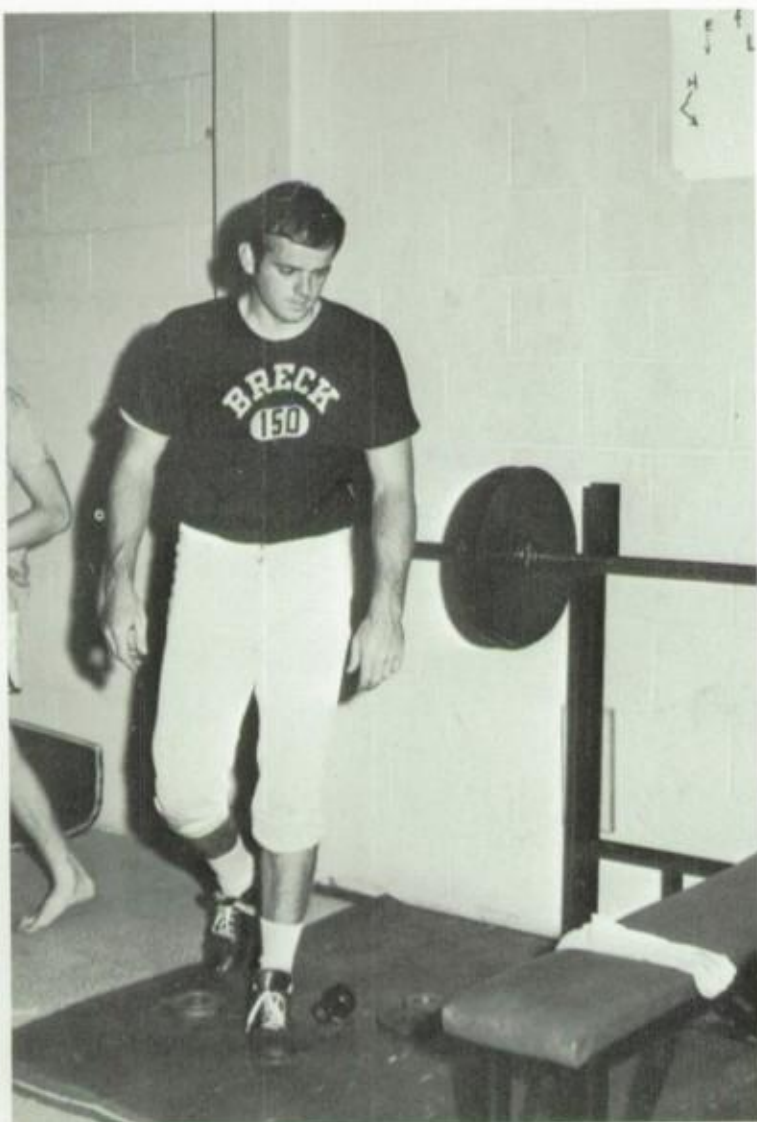

The Math Department is traditionally one of Breck's strongest departments. One of the main reasons for this is its three-track program which recognizes the fact that students have different interests and aptitudes. The first two tracks of this program follow a college preparatory course at a pace which is compatible to the average math student. The courses offered here cover the usual areas of algebra, plane and solid geometry, advanced algebra, and trigonometry.

The third track, called Q (for Quest), is the Advanced Placement program and all of its courses are Honors sections. Under this program algebra is begun in the seventh and eighth grades, geometry in ninth, a pre-calculus II as a senior. A student participating in this advanced program will take the Advanced Placement Examination during the spring of his senior year. This may then lead to college credit and/or moving to advanced level math courses in college. This year's senior class is the first class to have followed the three-track program since it began in seventh grade.

Also offered within the Math Department is a computer class. The students in this program are able to utilize Breck's own 6-15 digital computer in addition to the 6600 computer owned by the University.

"Gee I wonder what I'd be if I weren't a ping-pong player"

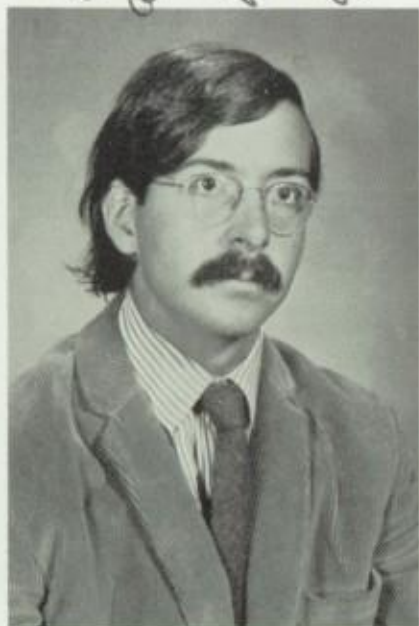

Mr. Blatherwick can always be found in his classroom.

HISTORY

Mr. Steven Kingsbury

Mr. Thomas Tierney
(Department Head)

Mr. Liam Taaffe

History

The History Department, because of graduation requirements (a United States History course plus one other course in grades 9-12) and the numerous amount of courses it offers (7), allows its students perhaps the greatest amount of flexibility of all departments in organized pursuit of student interests.

Despite the variance of courses and even methodology in teaching, the purpose of the History Department remains the same. It is the hope of its teachers that all history students are better able to interpret the causes of historical events and with this ability gain a greater interest, knowledgability, and understanding of the role of history both past and present.

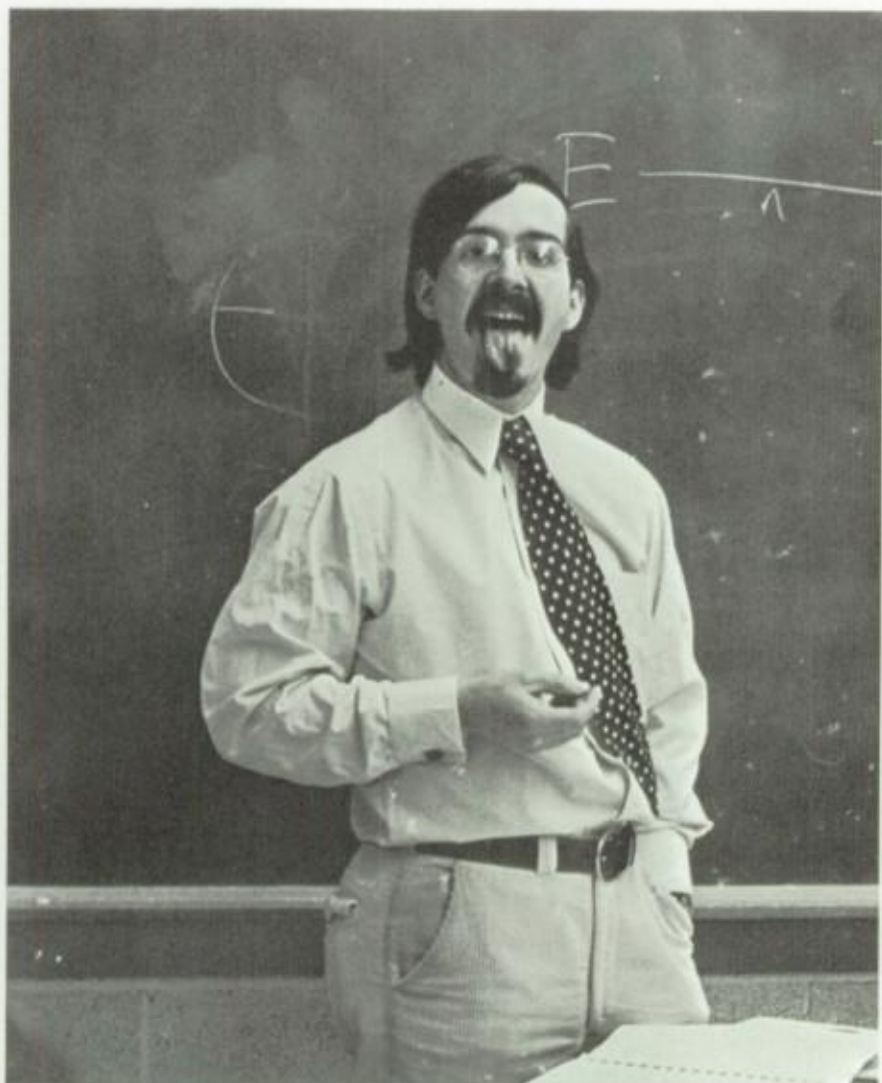

World History, covering Ancient to Early Modern History over the span of two years, is the course offered to the 7th and 8th graders. It is taught by all members of the History Department.

The Social Sciences are handled by Mr. Kingsbury who offers an Introduction to Social Science (Anthropology, Sociology, Psychology) to 9th and 10th graders, and Advanced Social Science to the 9th thru 12th grades.

Mr. Taaffe, the department's newest member, teaches both Modern European History and Economics/Political Science. The latter is a mixture of various types of economic and political systems. It is offered only to 11th and 12th graders.

Mr. Tierney, Department Head, teaches the United States History course and serves as liaison for the Advanced Placement Western Civilization course taught thru the facilities of Channel 2 in conjunction with the Hamline University History Department.

Mr. Tierney and Mr. Kingsbury have also been involved in work with 20th Century Problems, a co-operatively taught, multi-discipline course being tried for the first time this year under the leadership of Mr. Howard Chilberg of the English Department. (Mr. Coulter is the Science representative for this course.)

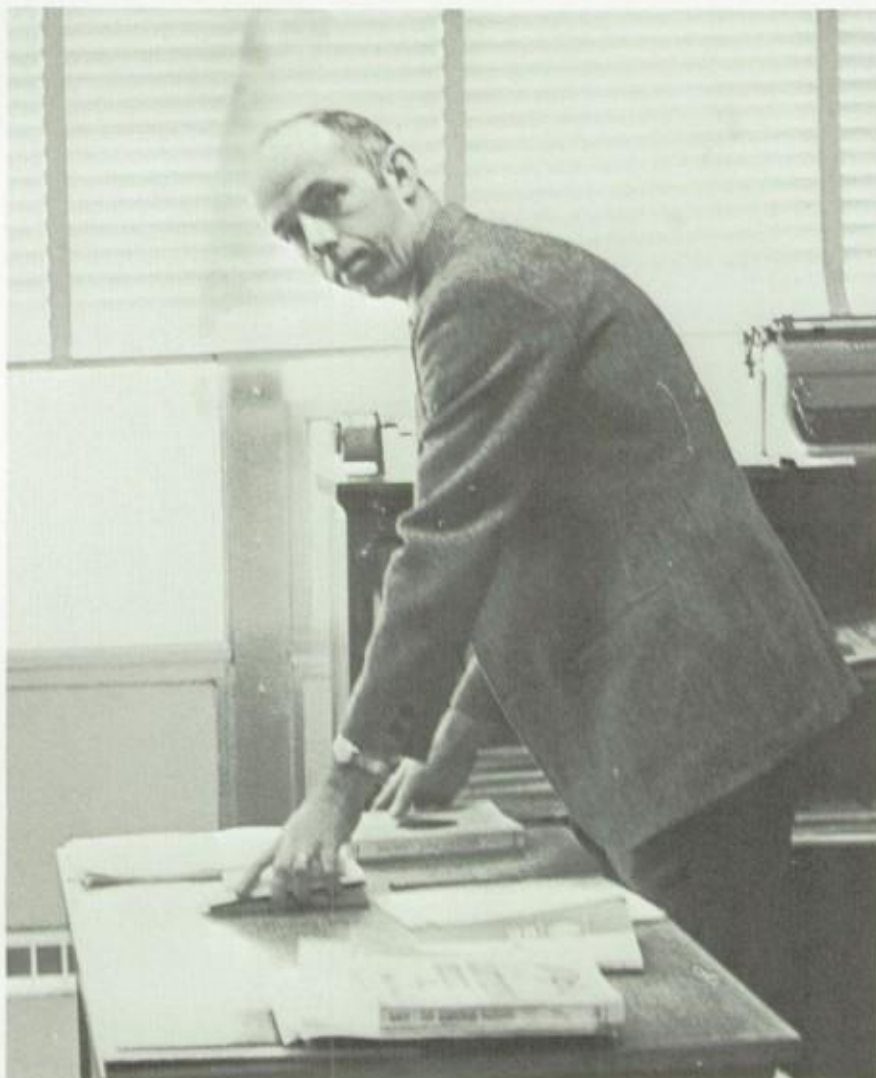

Don't mind him, he's just ego-tripping.

You can't be serious?

Mr. Taaffe prepares for class.

"Haglin get that flag out of here!"

SCIENCE

As planned and put into current practice, the Breck Science Department provides two things: first, it provides non-science-directed students with scientific facts and methods that can be used in making many decisions in their lives. Science is everywhere around us and the ramifications of its technology are far reaching. Second, it provides science-directed students at Breck with facilities for learning that are excellent. The laboratory facilities, new in 1969, are excellent. The science curricula represent the best current material available.

Science in the 7th and 8th grades is taught by all members of the Science Department.

Students in these grades are studying the first unit of the ISCS (Intermediate Science Curriculum Study) sequence of scientific investigations. Under this program students learn as scientists learn, by doing things themselves, working with their hands, and doing their own thinking. The teacher acts as a resource person who can be called upon to help and make suggestions only when a student really cannot go on. Such dynamic ideas as force, electricity, magnetism, and other physical occurrences are examined and learned.

The lab sciences, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics, are taught by Mr. Dedolph, Mr Coulter, and Mr. Lund respectively. The years in which a student may take these courses are for the most part optional.

Biology is offered as a study of living organisms and their relationships to one another and to the environment that surrounds them. Biological study is approached from two points of view: one, molecular and the second ecological. Molecular biology has its primary emphasis on the bio-chemical structure of individual species of organisms and their function. Environmental biology is a course in ecology with all the importance to survival of the human individual and species.

SCIENCE

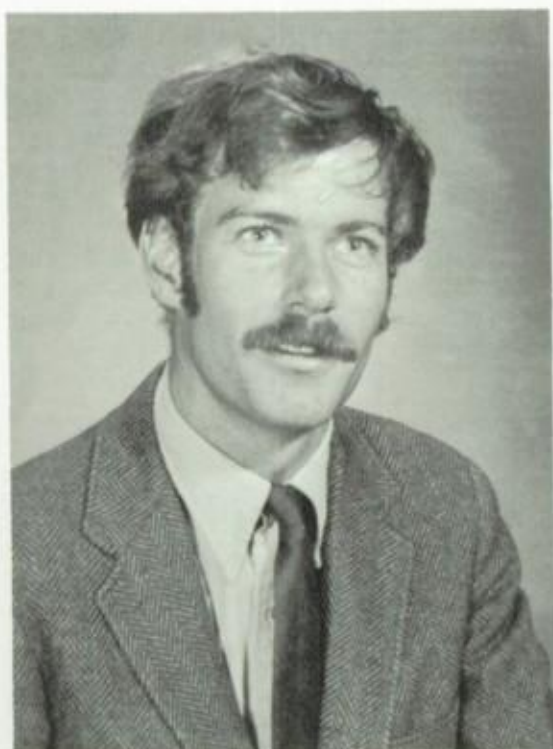

A second-year course in Biology is an advanced course both in scope of material and in depth of understanding. A college text is used and the course is geared for advanced placement standing in this area. Students have the opportunity for greater flexibility in their study methods and greater emphasis is placed on individual responsibility. Students have opportunities for more varied laboratory investigation.

The study of chemistry is programmed according to the goals of the CHEMSTUDY curriculum. Chemistry at Breck deals with the structure of materials, both living and non-living, and their chemical reactions with one another.

Physics at Breck is PSSC Physics. Since this is the physics of the age of tomorrow, it uses modern mathematical concepts to explain and measure energy. Students entering physics are high scholastically with special strengths in mathematics.

This year being taught at Breck for the first time is a subjective analysis of the consequences of today's modern technology. This course being taught by Mr. Coulter gives the student a greater understanding and sensibility of the science areas.

LANGUAGE

Breck's Language Department offers courses in French, German, and Spanish for students in grades seven through twelve. An audiolingual program, the AL-M system, forms the curriculum for Levels I and II in both French and German. The basic Spanish program is similar.

Mrs. Pauline Kiltinen, French teacher, supplements the AL-M program with a continuing interest in current French history and a monthly French scholastic magazine. The fourth level class consists of a grammar review and study of short literary selections. The fifth level class studies French civilization, a grammar review, and French literature by genre. Occasionally fourth and fifth level students also attend plays in French by French performers and see French films in their classrooms.

The Spanish program is directed by Mr. Michael Uram, Senior Master. The program consists of basic grammar study in the lower levels, interspersed with Spanish and Mexican culture, and perhaps a few driving tips. The third and fourth level continue grammar study and read short literary selections.

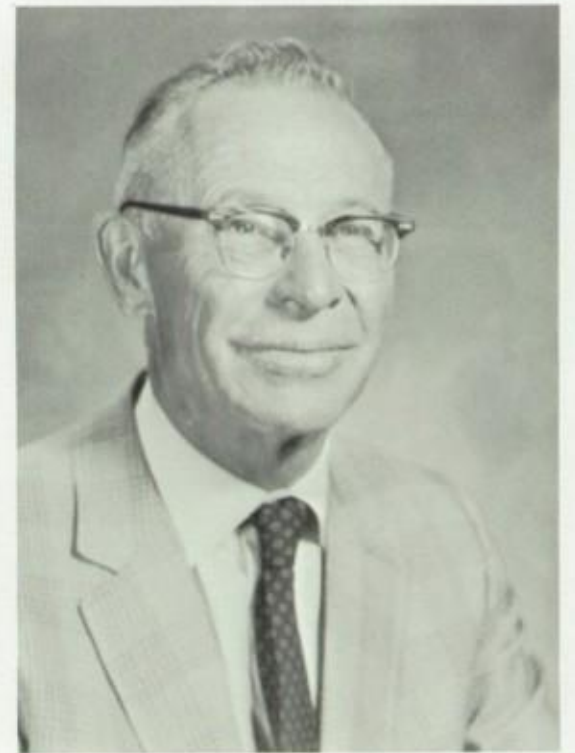

Mr. Michael Weiszel, Head of the Language Department, is the German teacher. The first and second levels closely parallel the French AL-M program. German III completes a review of German grammar and begins an introduction to German history and culture. The fifth level class studies German literature of the twentieth century and continues grammar study. German students also receive a monthly scholastic magazine.

FINE ARTS

Mr. Grant West

Fine Arts in Lower School at Breck offers a sequential program for Grades 1-6 designed to develop the creative skills of each student according to his own ability. In Art he works with crayon, paint, clay, tissues, and wire as well as perfecting his lettering skills.

In Music the student goes from grade one and rote concepts, through six grades of music reading, listening, rhythmic responses, choral singing, and drama.

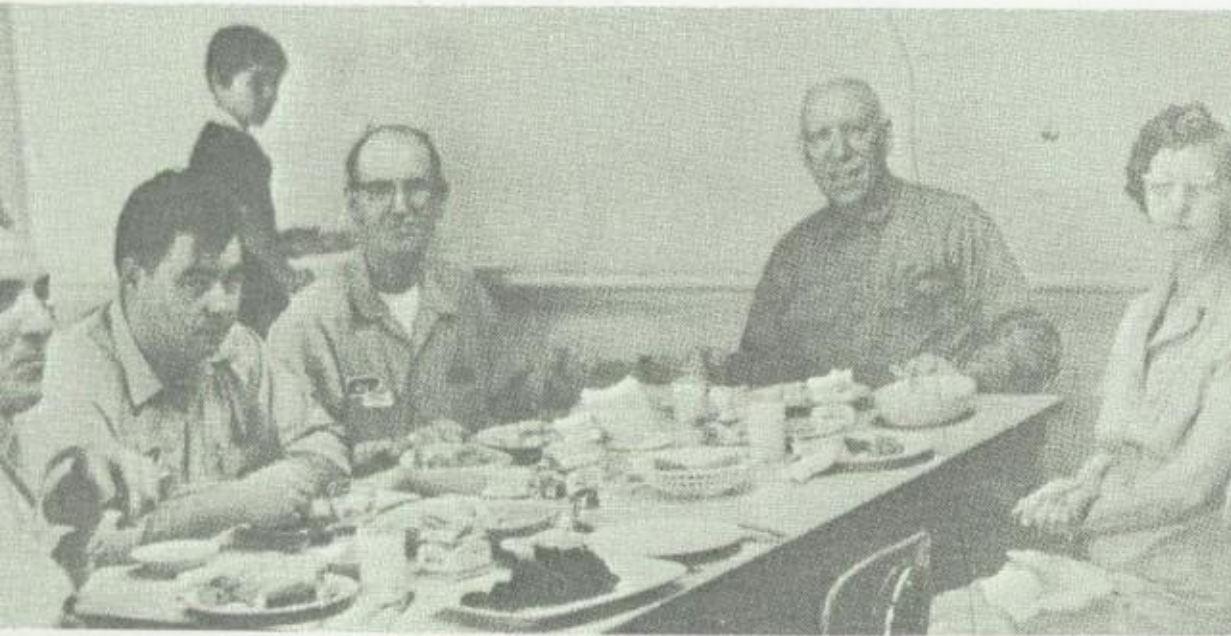

In Upper School Chorus, Glee Club and Art are offered. It would be the department's hope to expand this program in such a way that each student could have one period daily to learn and participate in his area of interest: music, art, drama, speech, or debate. Only through adequate time scheduled and hard work can creditable results be achieved.

CLASS OF 1971

This year's senior class represents the end of another section in the history of Breck School. The only all-male class left at Breck, the seniors also have the fewest number of people, with only twenty-four members of the class. However, the seniors have become the backbone of almost every student organization.

Every Varsity team has a core of seniors on it. There are four seniors on the Student Council, and through the able leadership of Rich Clary and Jim Fox the class of 1971 has helped to improve the daily life of the school. The seniors have been working as volunteers at the local hospitals, Michael Dowling School, Sheltering Arms, and other community services. The class of '71 has provided both the leadership and the manpower to help Breck move into the community and to get the underclassmen involved and concerned with Breck.

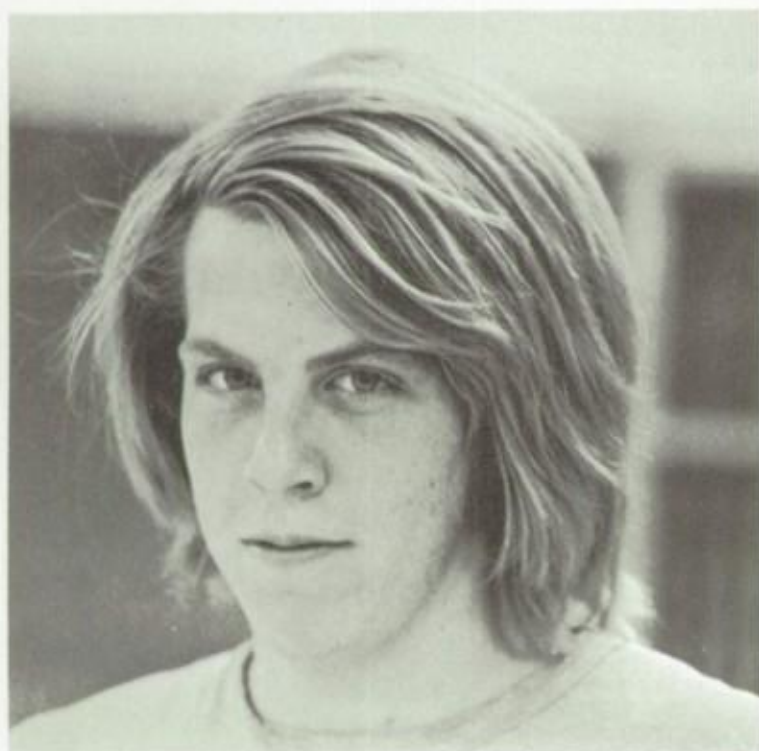

The Mustang staff salutes the seniors for all their efforts. The class of 1971 will undoubtedly do well in the years to come.

MUSTANG

This year the Mustang staff started out at an efficient rate with every editor getting his or her pages in on time. This was due to the organization of Editor-in-chief Richard Clary who had the staff working the Spring before on the cover. The present yearbook room is the most barren place in the school, yet Mr. Weiszel's iron hand authority kept it out of the hands of the seniors. ED, photographer, supplied ample time for taking pictures, but his technique was still warming up by November. However, George Johnson, sports editor, and Rog Eastman, ex-curricular activities, spent the night making up excuses for space by the first deadline.

There was good harmony among the first girl editors who tolerated the frenzied language of some of the veteran editors, who slyly got the Soccer team before Football in the sports section. The "end of an era" theme caused the seniors to make a lot of little firsts in the yearbook to make up for the big job next year when the senior girls get their own pages.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The elections for Student Council were held differently this year. In the Spring of 1970 two parties were formed to run as tickets in the election. The council grew out of the heart of the student body by having the entire Upper School elect one of the following campaigning parties:

G. Johnson, Pres.; R. Fischer, V. Pres.; C. Fick, Sec.; and Peter Haglin, Treas. formed the JFFH party and A. Larkin, Pres.; K. Springsted, V. Pres.; P. Truhn, Sec.; N. Parmeter, Treas. formed the SPQR party.

Larkin's party won by promising a dynamic and democratic council where the students would have all the say in matters concerning them. The council has done a lot for getting our kids involved in social activities. A program was set up this year so that still another volunteer group could be formed, and these people now work at Michael Dowling School. A new dance was sponsored at the request of the students for mid-fall. In general, the council does an excellent job of representing the students to the administration.

BUGLE

This year's Bugle staff is the best Breck has to offer. Editorial editor, Steve Field, has collected a wide variety of articles displaying the students' desires to participate actively in the governing of the school. Al Larkin successfully scouted out a lot of great young talent in the seventh and eighth grades, and the Bugle staff looks promising for the future. Junior, Pat Truhn, news editor, did a fantastic job with all the headline news and senior, Rob Fischer, never had a bad word to say about the great performances the Breck teams have displayed. A new twist for Bugle fund raising was developed by senior, Peter Haglin, business editor. The students were able to purchase their own advertising space for a small fee. The idea caught on and thus developed a new humor department.

BRECK SOCIAL SERVICE ACTIVITIES

This year along with supplying excellent volunteer help to St. Barnabas and St. Luke's Hospitals Breck has sent a dedicated group of people to Michael Dowling School to work with the physically handicapped and teach a retarded group from Motley School to swim. A service, which is now in its second year, is the Sheltering Arms volunteer group. From one to five days a week a large number of Breck students go to Sheltering Arms during their free hours to work with retarded children. Quite often a Breck student will give one or two of the children a tour of our school. The aid is applied outside the classroom in physical activities and the teaching of learning games as well as in class where they teach the children to read and write the basics. This help is greatly appreciated and aside from being excellent experience the students enjoy the work.

GLEE CLUB

This year's Glee Club, because of its quantity and quality, may prove to be the best one yet. The director of these singing students is Mr. Grant West, a young and energetic instructor. He has planned many concerts for Communion Services and for the holiday seasons. The students are enthusiastic about the modern selections chosen by Mr. West, and they enjoy singing them. The Breck School Glee Club will always add a joyous note to the school.

Mr. Weiszel stuck out like a sore thumb among the sopranos.

DRAMA

The "New Timid Workshop" begins its third year with a new director, Mrs. Debbie Blake. Our department is unique because all interested people — whether their interest be in the technical or acting aspect of theater — are involved. Already we have gotten a group from the Guthrie to come to school and perform. We plan on doing a musical in the Winter, and in the Spring we are going to sponsor several student-produced one act plays.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

The Library Committee is a service organization of twenty students in grades 8-12 each serving in the library two to three hours a week. Besides carding, shelving, and keeping the library in order, the committee assists both Upper and Lower School students find and check out books. One committee member serves as an audio-visual aid, and several others coordinate media with classroom work. The Library Committee provides a worthwhile service to the Breck community by encouraging and assisting students in the use of the learning center.

QUEEN'S CORONATION

Another first for Breck! This year Breck had its first Homecoming Queen chosen from its own crop. Carole Fick, a Junior, Varsity Cheerleader, and High Honor Roll student began her reign Sept. 23, 1970, when she was crowned by Mr. Blatherwick in the Chapel. Her escort, Richard Arnold, is also a Junior. All the princesses, Kathy Eilertsen, Wendy Benton, Sherrie Brings and Cindy Whitman were stiff competition. The Queen's Tea, held at Canon's house, was dominated by the beautiful Breck girls. Having a Breck girl Homecoming Queen boosted the spirit of the entire school.

Everyone was there.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

Homecoming day, Sept. 25, 1970, began with a rousing pep fest held before the games in the Anderson gym. Posters scattered throughout the school added spirit to this annual event. Anticipation grew as the time approached for the big games and the dance. Despite the mud and the rain, a large crowd was on hand to cheer on the mighty Mustangs. They watched anxiously as the teams battled for victories, and even a loss by the soccer team did not dampen the spirit of day. Later, that evening was the annual Breck Homecoming dance. The Fifth Pine-box Express supplied the music. And a good time was had by all.

And it was this big!

The glory girls for Breck.

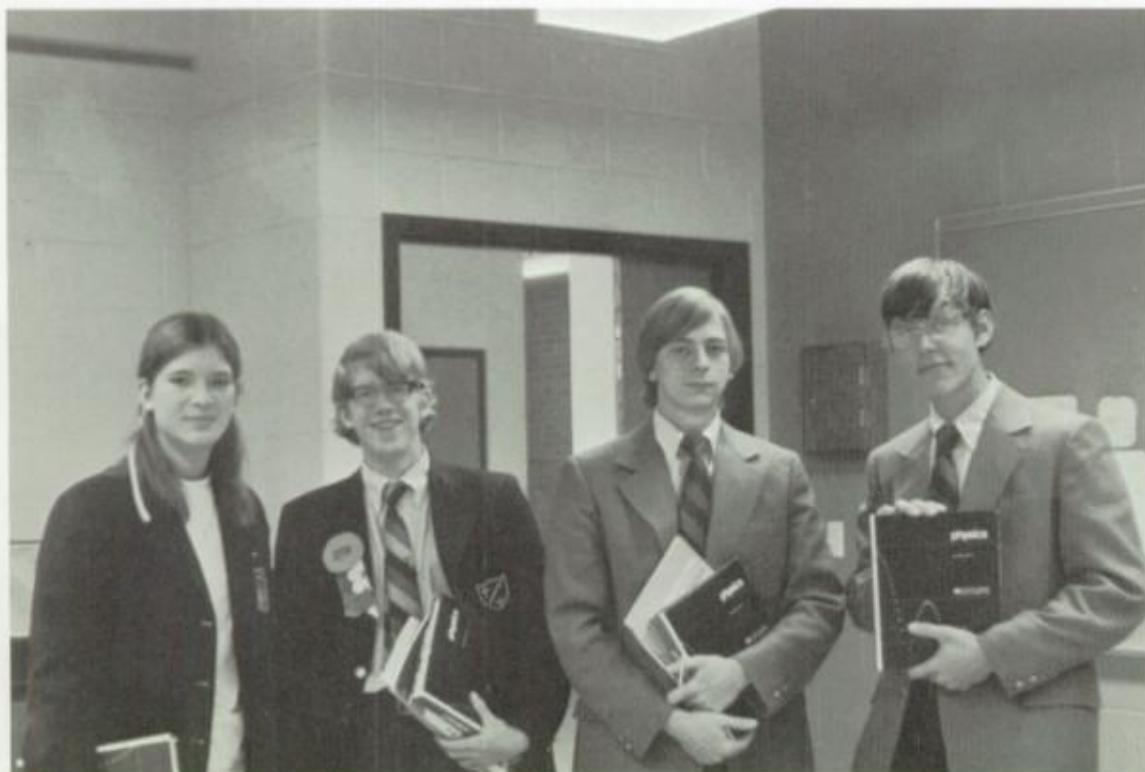

"The Queen and I"

Not mud, nor rain, nor sleet, kept the crowds away.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTION

This year Breck had its first all school election of the student council officers. The interested students formed two parties. The S.P.Q.R. party was organized by Alan Larkin, who was running for president. He chose Kirk Springsted as his running mate for vice president, Pat Truhn as his secretary, and Nancy Parmeter as treasurer. The J.F.F.H. party, with George Johnson running for president, Rob Fischer for vice president, Carole Fick for secretary, and Peter Haglin for treasurer, was also formed and soon after, the political battle began. Each party waged exciting campaigns with posters, buttons, speeches, and a debate. The entire student body enthusiastically participated by supporting their favorite candidate. Two weeks later, a vote was taken; the S.P.Q.R. party winning by a narrow margin. Soon, after the J.F.F.H. party recovered from the sorrow of the defeat, everyone was anxiously waiting to see how their newly elected student council would operate.

MID-WINTER DANCE '71

Due to a snow storm the Mid-Winter Dance was postponed to Feb. 12, a week later than expected. The immortal Paisleys provided the music in their last group performance. Dominating the decorations was one of the large plastic balloons which could be danced in. Everyone was in high spirits after cheering for the 6-5 victory over De LaSalle in the regional hockey tournament.

Aren't they cute?

On December 11, 1970, Breck had its annual Christmas program. It was a wonderful success and the crowds of parents and friends filled the gym. Mrs. Tozer, with her usual excellence, prepared and directed the performance. All of her work resulted in a beautiful carol sung by her Lower School choruses. Mr. West, the new Upper School Choir Director, led the singing students in a few carols, and wrote a beautiful song that was sung by the trio, Denece George, Miriam Colacci, and Barbara Brown. While speakers read and choirs sang, students portrayed the kings, shepherds, and angels of the joyous night of Christ's birth, which provided a nice background for the program.

Upon the conclusion of the show, Mrs. Tozer was not only rewarded by the applause, but also by a kiss from Canon Henderson.

ATHLETICS

All-Conference players Rog Eastman, this year's Captain, and Tom Cavin one of next year's Co-Captains along with Honorable Mention players, Paul Finley (Co-Captain 1971), Peter Haglin, Al Larkin, and Bob Nordquist formed the core of this year's team.

Eastman gets his kicks.

This year found one of the best teams ever at Breck, a tribute to the loyalty and dedication of this year's Varsity team. Starting early in June and participating in weekly games, the season record late in October was 14-10-2. The team began the season by winning the Summer conference with an 8-0 record.

J.V. AND C SQUAD SOCCER

Exciting games and numerous wins highlighted this year's 1970 J.V. Soccer results. The coaches, Mr. Shaw and Mr. Ross, were pleased with their records. There were 3 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie. For sure, the most significant game was our victory over Blake 3-1 which was the first time ever that our J.V. dumped the Hump. Our easiest game was with Shattuck where we shut them out 7-0. "Too bad you guys." The highest scorer on the team was Pat Haglin, and the most valuable player was goalie, Mike Meyers. If we had won our last game, we would have tied with four other schools for the conference title.

The C squad was undefeated this year. Drawing on the talent of the J.V. team, the C squad put together a tough defence and a goal scoring offence. They improved greatly, and jelled into a real working team. The C squad represents a great hope for future varsity teams.

VARITY FOOTBALL

There was not a regular season game this year that the football team could not have won. Their 2-3 league record is deceitful. Though often outweighed, they were never outfought. Their spirit on and off the field was felt through the whole school and indicated further in the strong showings of the J.V. and C squad football. No one anticipated much from this team due to the fact that only nine Seniors and a handful of Juniors showed up for summer practice, but at the end of the season everyone involved with the team felt a winning record was the only thing not accomplished.

In pre-season games the team lost to St. Paul Murray, the St. Paul football champs, and powerful Austin Pacelli by wide margins, but wiped stubborn Mpls. Lutheran.

In the first league game they overpowered Concordia 14-0. The Breck backs ripped through the Concordia line consistently and the defense was flawless. The following week Breck played what many consider to be the finest game and lost 14-6 to Blake. Breck fumbled on the first play of the game and Blake scored soon after. A letdown would have been expected, but never materialized. For three quarters Breck held Blake's powerful offense while scoring itself to tie the game. Late in the fourth quarter, Blake mounted a drive and scored with 33 seconds left to win the game. Breck beat S.P.A. the next week, 12-6 for the first time in seven years. Minnehaha cashed in on costly Breck errors to beat the Mustangs 20-0 in the hardest hitting contest of the year. Breck never got rolling against Shattuck and lost 10-8 on a fourth quarter field goal.

The defense was led in the line by quick Scott Harrison and the rock, Jeff Olson, and, in the back-field, by hard-nosed Rob Fischer and tough Jim Atkinson. Gary Phelps's sprintouts and passes and George Johnson's power running were the keys to the offense.

J.V. AND C SQUAD FOOTBALL

For the first time Breck fielded two independent, successful football teams. The J.V. lost only once and the C squad but twice. Ninth grader, Scott Posten, led both the J.V. and C squad rushers with his broken field running which opened up many games. The defenses were tough, rugged crews which no one pushed around. The line was big, the backs were fast, and the quarterbacks were accurate passers. Watch out M.I.S.L!

VARSITY HOCKEY

Hockey at Breck is on the upswing.

For the first time in many years Breck had a winning record. For the first time since its conception, Breck made it into the Minnesota Independent High School Hockey Tournament. This came with a pressure packed 6-5 victory over De LaSalle in the regional tournament. For the 2nd consecutive year Breck finished third in the MISL with a 4-4 record. Breck played its best in the MISL games losing two heartbreakers to SPA, 6-4 and 2-1 and losing tough hard-skating games against Blake. Breck had a high scoring attack averaging 5 goals per game. They were shut out only once all season by state power Hill. Leading scorer for the team was George Johnson followed closely by Jim Atkinson and a host of sophomores. The defence was led by Jim Fox and three underclassmen, junior Ned Ahrens, Sophomore Danny Van Slyke and freshmen Ken Shepherd.

Seniors on the team were high flying wingers Scott Harrison and Jeff Olson, sturdy Jim Anderson, rugged Kim Jaker, and captains, Jim Fox and George Johnson.

Great things can be expected of next year's team. Returning next year will be both goaltenders, two strong defencemen, and two hardskating lines.

J.V. HOCKEY

For hockey to be succesful on the varsity level you must have a strong underclassmen program. Under the leadership of Mr. Ross, Mr. Deger, and Mr. Knoblauch Breck has this. The boys skated six days a week and competed in leagues from Pee Wee to Junior Varsity. The J.V. Team had a 6-3 record losing all three games to tough M.I.S.L. opponents. The C-Squad had a seven to seven record. The midget team was 2-4-1 playing against some of the better midget teams of the state. The Bantam team was 3-3-1. The Pee Wee team only won two of its games but gained valuable experience and showed improvement.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The basketball team was very good this year, but a lack of personnel left the team exhausted at the end of each game. Always good defensively, the team developed a good offense, and their hard work payed off in victories over SPA, St. Croix Lutheran, and Mayer Lutheran.

Co-captains, Gary Phelps and Kirk Springsted, led the team through the season, with Kirk as the play-maker and Gary as a defensive stalwart. Dave Myhre was the big man for the team, with Bob Nordquist and Pete Haglin at the forwards spots. Richard Arnold and Dave Johnson were the substitutes. But even with all this talent, there was a lack of depth, and no experience on the bench.

With the coaching of Mr. Clements and Mr. Prouse the team developed into a fine unit. Two close losses to Blake robbed the team of a well deserved fourth in the M.I.S.L. Unfortunately, with all but one starter graduating, the prospects for next season are unknown.

J.V. BASKETBALL

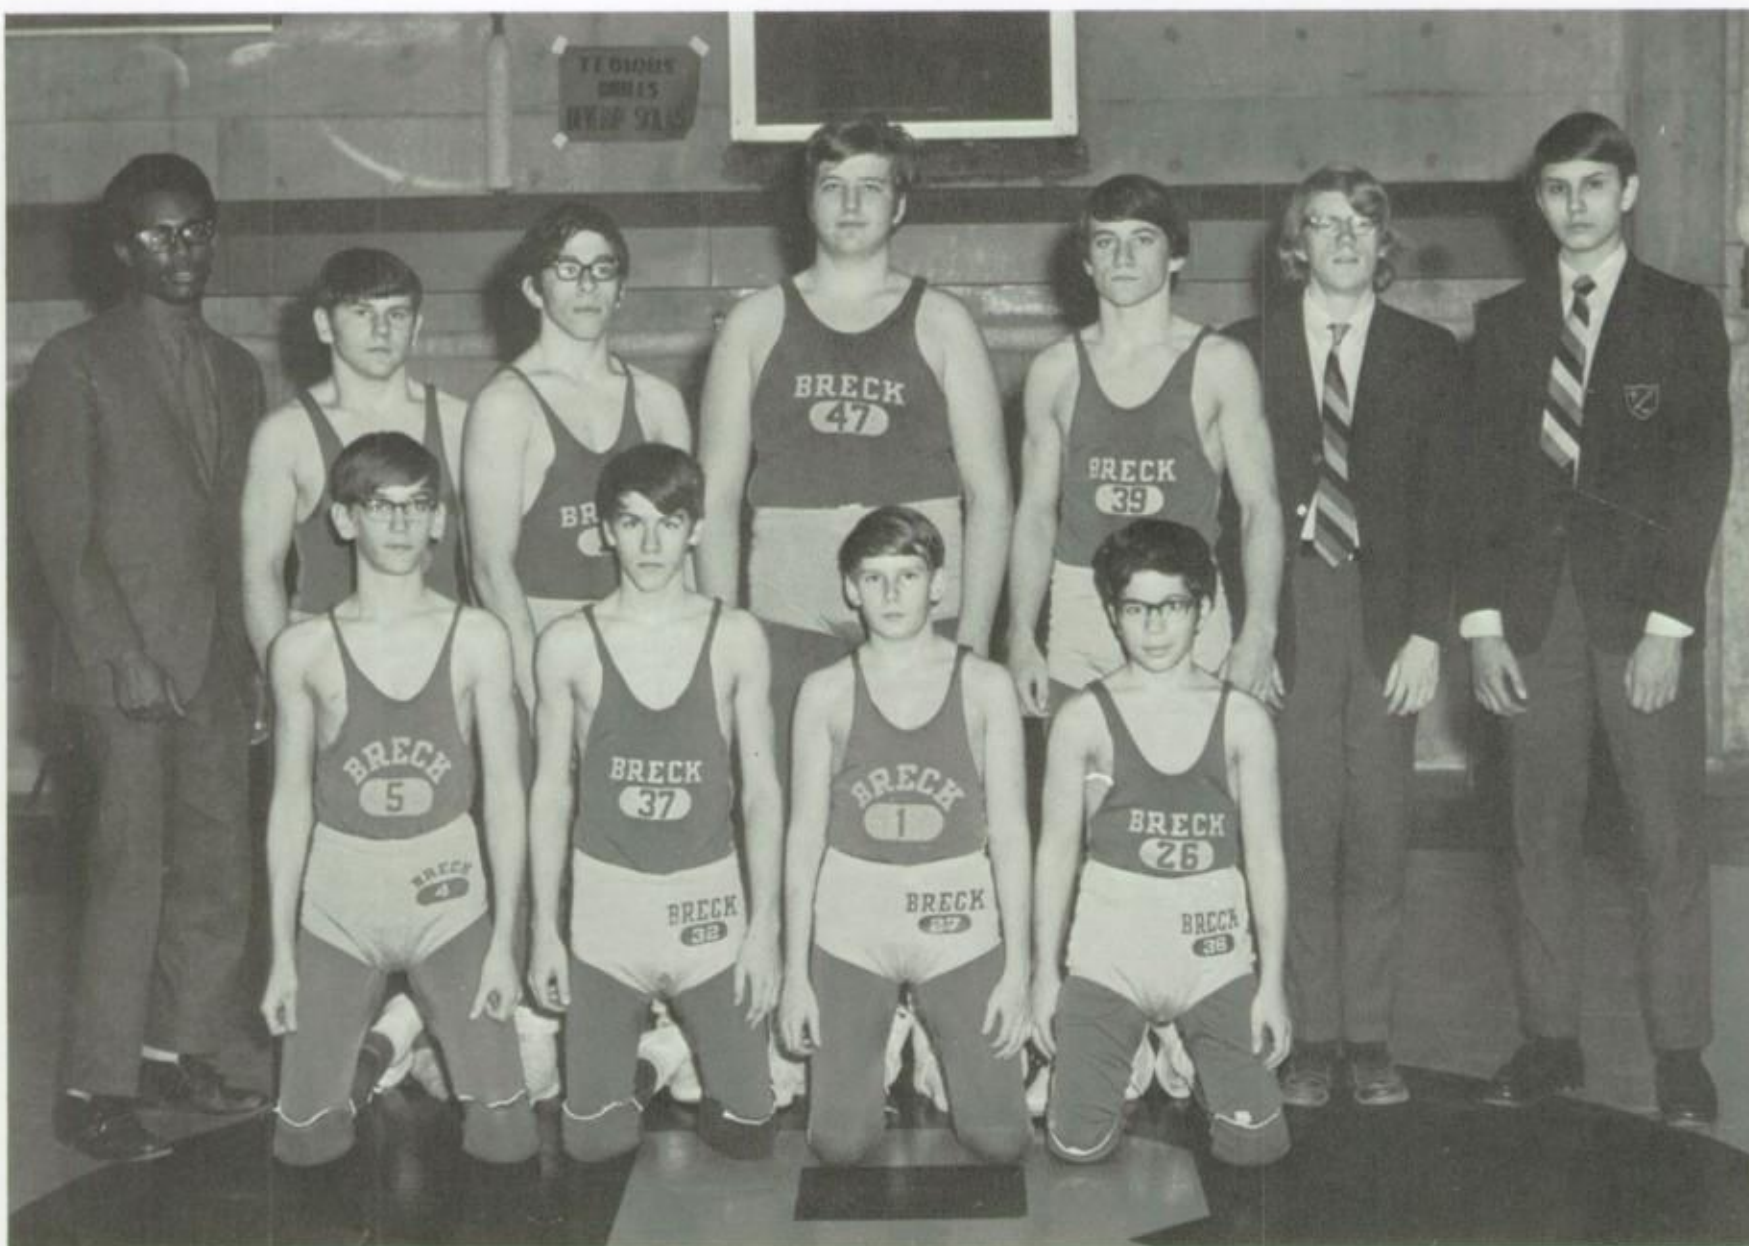

The J.V. Basketball team had a hard season this year. A lack of height and experience led to a poor showing in the league, but the team tried hard and always played their best game. Under the leadership of Coach Shogren, the team learned the basic fundamentals of the game and hopefully some of this talent will be on the Varsity next year.

Jim Cross and George Flora were returning veterans, and they were the play-makers and high scorers for the team. Tim Wittenburg improved greatly, and he too will possibly be on varsity next year.

Hopefully, next year will be a better season for the J.V. Perhaps one year of building will be enough.

There was not a full wrestling team at Breck this year, but there was a team: Ricky Field, 98 lbs., Dave Jenkins, 106 lbs., Charles Baker, 115 lbs., Rob Fischer, 130 lbs., Steve Field, 141 lbs., Ed Wegrzynowicz, 157 lbs., and Chuck Matoush, Hwt. These eight wrestlers didn't win a dual meet all year, but were ready for the tournaments where Breck showed its strength.

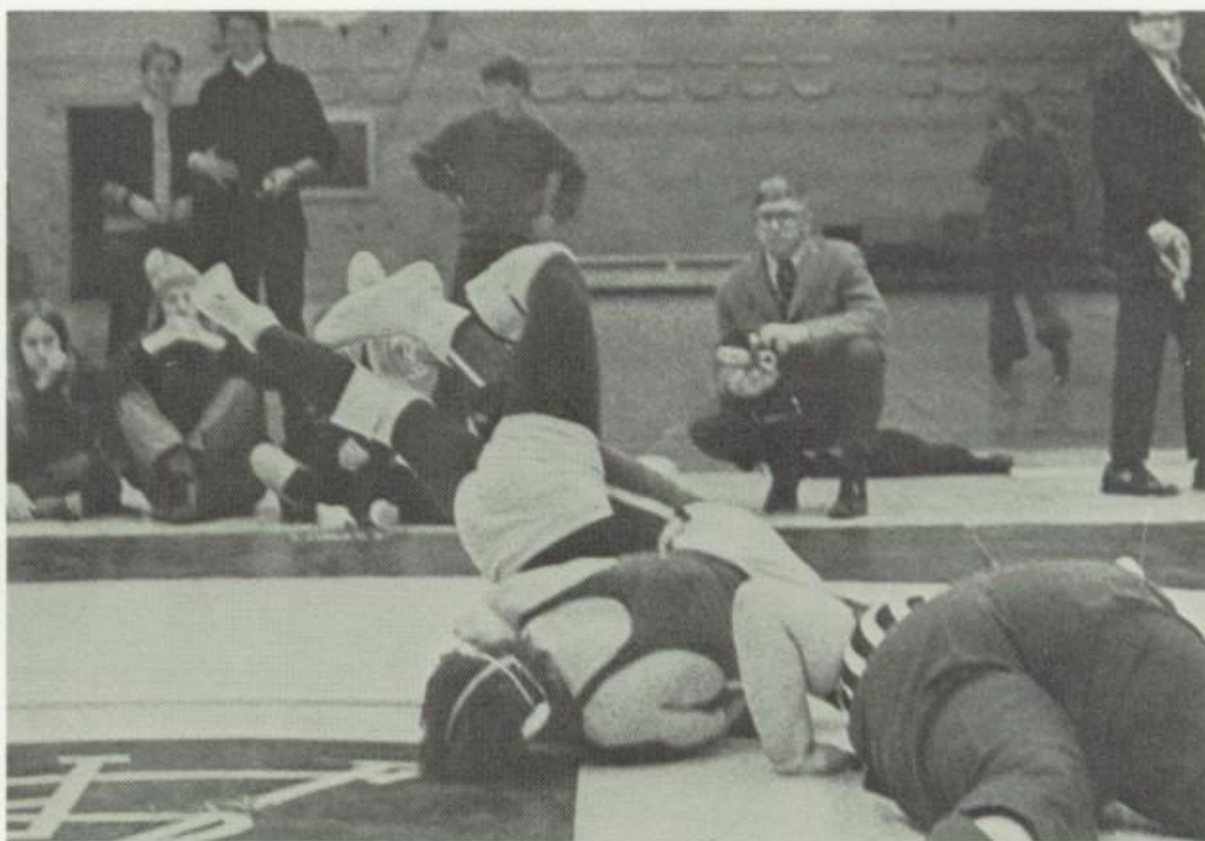

Captain Rob Fischer did not lose a match all year. Veterans Ed Wegrzynowicz and Steve Field also compiled excellent records. Rookies Chuck Matoush, Rick Field, Dave Jenkins, and Chuck Baker showed great improvement as the season progressed.

The regional tournament, held at Fridley Grace, brought two Breck wrestlers to the finals. Rob Fischer took first place and Steve Field took second; these two wrestlers became Breck's representatives in the state tournament.

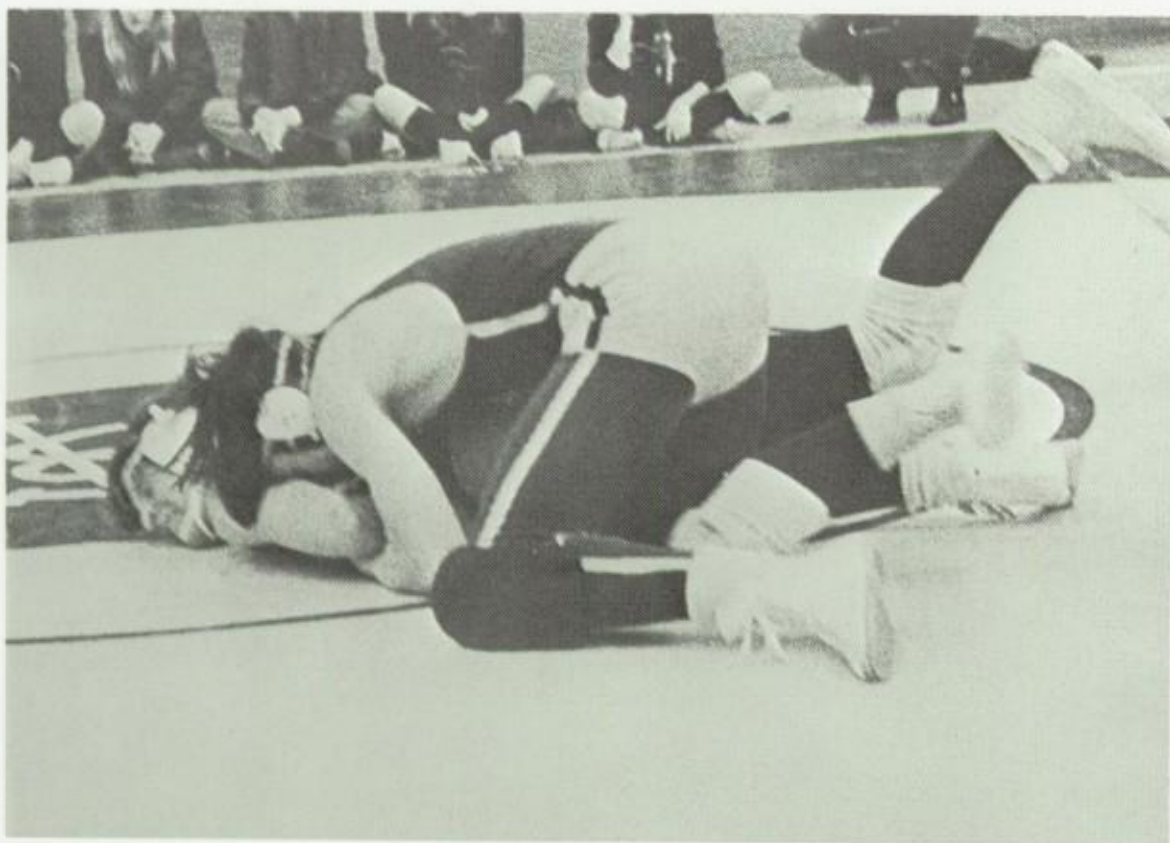

Coached well by Ed Cavin and Grant West, the team never gave up, fought hard, and learned a great deal.

CHEERLEADING

This year's cheerleaders started out with a lot of enthusiasm. Their raspy voices could be heard after many soccer and football practices. They made it through a busy fall season soaked with rain and covered with mud — but only slightly discouraged. However, with the quitting of a few girls, morale dropped and attendance slackened. With three winter sports and only six cheerleaders it became a little difficult to make some of the games. As Breck grows, so will its school spirit and hopefully along with it, the cheerleaders.

No, Nancy, the game started 15 minutes ago.

We're so cute, why can't we win?

The girl's basketball team learned many things this year. They discovered the many rewards of working together as a team. One example was the Brady game. The score was tied 20-20 in the overtime when Breck dumped in 5 points for a well-deserved victory. The co-captains, Carole Winslow and Sarah Drill, helped boost the morale of the team, while speedy Linda Johnson, jumping Chris Ranz, super-shooter Debby Gay and aggressive Mary Fick insured the team a succesful season.

Sarah on the run.

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

It has become customary for the Editor to use this page complaining about the staff and the photography. The usual gripes are: "The staff dwindled to a mere handful." or "The pictures were lacking in quantity and quality." Fortunately, these complaints do not apply to this year's staff.

Everyone worked on his pages with enthusiasm (?) and perseverance. We rarely missed a deadline, and even those that we did miss were only two or three days late. This is perhaps a record for the Mustang. Of course, there was an occasional lapse on the part of certain staff members, and it looked for a while as if we couldn't give away ad pages, but everything worked out in the end.

The photography was definitely of better quality this year. There was still an occasional lack of pictures, and of course we had to have a few shots of empty rooms and a few action pictures taken from a couple of hundred feet away. But the photos seemed to come in just in time for the deadlines, and I certainly can't complain about that.

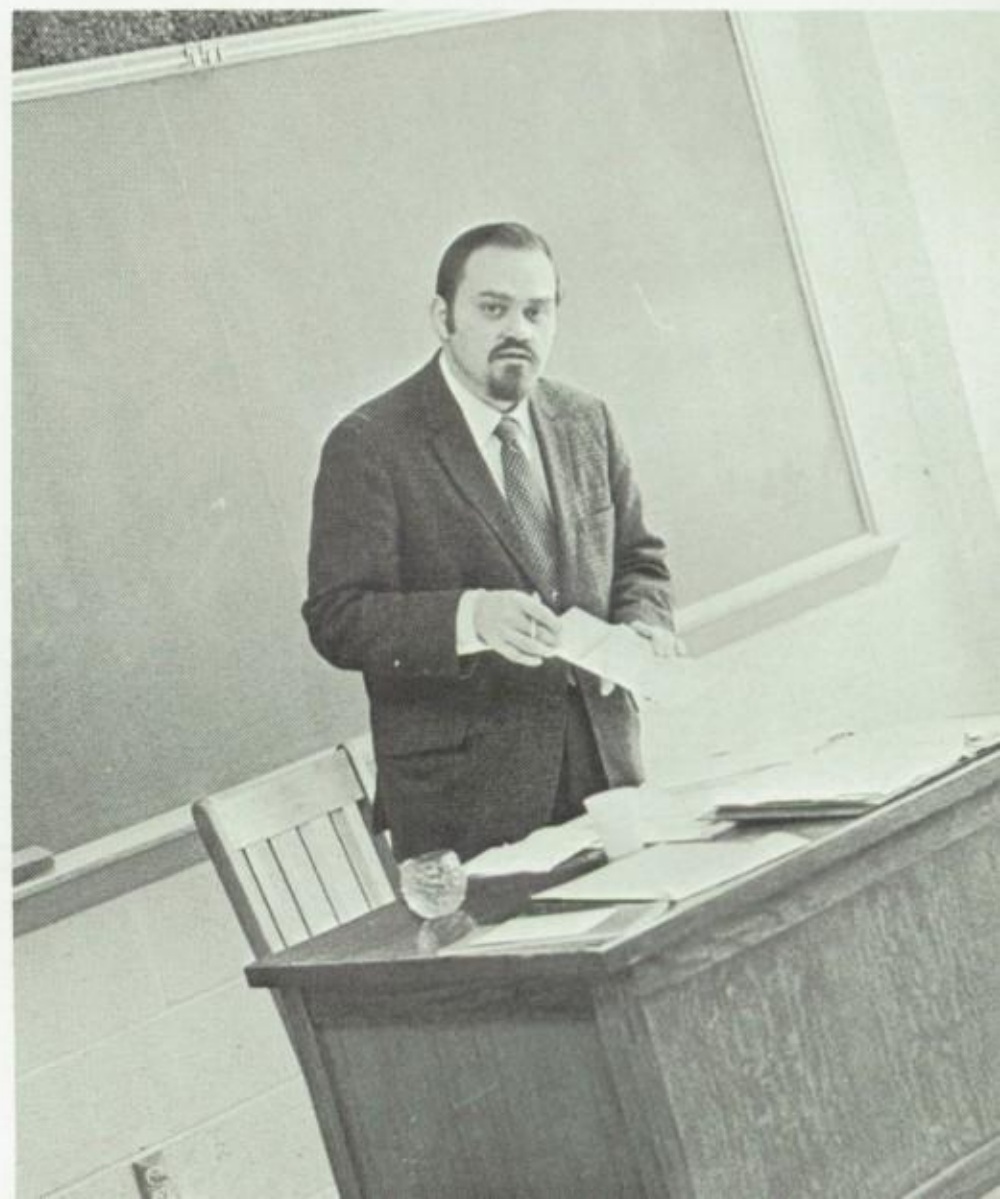

So, although there were some minor difficulties, a good group effort has produced what I think is a good yearbook. I want to thank the entire staff, and especially Pete Haglin for finally selling those ads. I also offer my sympathies to next year's Editor, Carole Fick. It looks like another Breck tradition has just ended.

*It's the little things we do and say
That mean so much as we go our way.
A kindly deed can lift a load
From weary shoulders on the road,
Or a gentle word, like summer rain,
May soothe some heart and banish pain.
What joy or sadness often springs
From just the simple little things!*
